COUNCIL MEETS IN REGULAR SESSION

No Motor Truck To Be Purchased Till After Investigation—Request From Arlington To Be Opposed

The regular meeting of the town council was held on Wednesday morning of this week as Monday was a public holiday. Mayor Bell was in the chair, and the following councillors were present: Messrs. McLachlan, Hodge, Ireland, Oates, Devitt and Robertson.

A letter was read from the Canada Bond Co. assuring the council that they would endeavor to dispose of the bonds within the specified time.

Councillor McLachlan reported for the fire committee on Wednesday morning of this week as Monday was a public holiday. Mayor Bell was in the chair, and the following councillors were present: Messrs. McLachlan, Hodge, Ireland, Oates, Devitt and Robertson.

The request of Burns & Hollinger re having part of Arlington put into farmlands at submitted at the last meeting was taken up. Councillor Robertson said he had given the matter some thought and was not of the same opinion now as he was last week. He was not now in favor of considering the "Oxley" favorably. The mayor said he thought this property had benefited by the industrial and other developments of the town and had been extended to the property and conveniences for water had also been extended. School sites had also been purchased in that district, and as they were only taken for school purposes he thought it only fair that they should now pay their share. Councillor Devitt was of the same opinion and seconded a motion made by Councillor Ireland to vote in favor of the town solicitor being instructed to object to the application on the grounds as outlined by the mayor.

On motion of Councillors Hodge and Devitt, June 9th was set as the date of the court of revision, the same to be held in the council chamber. It was also embodied in the motion that all elections and other meetings be held in the municipal hall in future.

A letter was read from a Mr. Cork asking for an option on some of the town's debentures. Councillor McLachlan said that if there were anything in a name this man ought to be able to float something and he might be given a chance to try.

A letter was read from the Berlin Ont. board of trade asking for the co-operation of the council in the matter of better fire protection throughout Canada, and also for their co-operation in giving employment to soldiers returning from the front. The communication was referred to the fire committee to deal with.

On motion of Councillors McLachlan and Devitt, the engineer was instructed to make the water connection on First street, and to lay the water-pipes in that district, as soon as material can be secured. Some small accounts were presented and ordered to be paid.

Just before adjourning Councillor Devitt asked if there was any truth in the report that the council had left the town work because they had signed the petition. To this question Engineer Alvish replied that there was not. He said that the council had signed the petition were laid off and at the same time there were some who had not signed the petition laid off. The reason they were laid off was because there was no more work for them to do.

Mens Club Give Successful Program

One of the best concerts and entertainment socials ever held in Redcliff took place in the Mens Club rooms on Monday night, Victoria Day.

Invitations were issued to all the residents and they were well responded to.

At 9 o'clock over 100 people were seated (not including children), and as the concert proceeded the audience increased.

The programme was very well arranged, and consisted of the following: "The Song of the Lark" by Miss Devitt, "The Song of the Lark" by Miss Devitt, "The Song of the Lark" by Miss Devitt.

The programme consisted of some 10 items and closed with a full chorus, "O Canada," by the Glee Club.

The concert, musically, was certainly a great success and reflects very credit on the promoters in the manner in which things had been so successfully arranged.

Refreshments were handed round to all present, and as this is related somewhat over an hour everybody was not only satisfied but full.

An informal dance was held afterwards for all those who cared to stay, and the night's entertainment finished up about 2 a.m. on Tuesday morning.

Mr. G. E. Kitchener presented a vote of thanks to all those who had added to the enjoyment of the night, but special mention must be made as to the able manner in which the chairman, Mr. G. J. Cheesterman, handled the programme and running matters so smoothly added greatly to the success of the evening.

Thanks are also due to Mr. E. Oates, as floor manager, and to Mr. R. Cann for his great help on the violin during the dance.

Redcliff Ball Team Plays Good Game

The Redcliff baseball team played a league game with the Conservatives of Medicine Hat on the latter ground last Wednesday evening. In its report of the game the Times says:

If any of the big league baseball magnates had attended the baseball game at the park last night at 6.15, they would have been well treated to a fine game of baseball as it was played by the Redcliff team.

The game was played in the home diamond which was better baseball than these two teams played here last night.

The Young Conservatives took the Redcliff team into camp to the tune of 8 to 2. Both teams played stellar stuff, but it was obvious to the home team being able to get hits when hits made run that enabled them to pull out a victory. At the end of the game the Redcliff team was equal to the occasion, however, and struck out the next two men to face him, but they did not play any game.

White and Thomas for the Redcliff team played great ball. While, also, the Redcliff team was equal to the occasion, however, and struck out the next two men to face him, but they did not play any game.

Calderwood Wins The Times Road Race

Redcliff was very much in it at the sports held in Medicine Hat on Empire day under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Association.

To start the day off with, Jack Calderwood won the "Times" road race, a distance of five miles. Promptly at the hour, Mayor Bell started the runners off with a shot from a horse pistol which sounded like the bombardment of the Dardanelles.

There were five runners in the race and all got away to a good start. All five were well matched, up for the first three miles when one dropped behind and finally quit. The rest kept up an even race.

The top of the hill just outside of the ball park was reached, when Calderwood put on a spurt and finished in front of the grand stand about one hundred yards ahead of his opponents.

This race is an annual event, and was won last year by Calderwood. Last year it will remain in Redcliff for another year at least.

Redcliff also figured in the football tournament, the United playing a tie game with a picked team from the Hat, each side scoring once. In the final game, the United played a tie game with a picked team from the Hat, each side scoring once.

Quite a number from Redcliff attended the sports and report a splendid day's entertainment.

List Of Redcliff Boys Enlisted For Service

Since the start of the war the Redcliff has had many inquiries as to the number of our sons who have gone to the front, and also as to the names of the names, for the benefit of our readers we have compiled a list of all those who have gone from Redcliff to a full list of whole names.

At the same time we have also compiled a list of all those who have gone from Redcliff to a full list of whole names.

British Sink Four Boats In Dardanelles

An official note issued Sunday regarding the operations in the Dardanelles, is that a British submarine has sunk two torpedo boats and two transports, one of which was loaded with troops.

The text of the note is as follows: "To the Dardanelles, two Turkish divisions commanded by General Limon von Sanders in person, have delivered a furious attack against the British troops near Kalp Tepi. They were completely repulsed and suffered very heavy losses."

At the same time our allies have had another success on the sea, where one of our submarines sank two torpedo boats and two transports, one of which was loaded with troops.

In the southern region of the peninsula our troops at certain points are only a few metres distant from the Turkish trenches they have, notwithstanding a very powerful defensive organization on the part of the enemy, succeeded in making important progress.

ITALY AT LAST DECLARES WAR WITH AUSTRIA

Italian Troops Invade Austria And Occupy Several Points Also Make Air And Naval Raids

Simultaneously with the issuance of the general mobilization order, the Italian government, Sunday night officially announced that war had been declared against Austria-Hungary.

A clash which is generally termed in Rome the first clash of the Italian-Austrian war occurred Sunday between Italian and Austrian troops between Postojna and Udine.

An Austrian patrol crossed the front line, shot down a number of Italian machine gunners, and was driven back over the border.

Active artillery and naval operations are now under way, and the declaration of war by the latter has been followed by a number of Italian submarines penetrating Austria, occupying Caporetto, the heights between the Julian Alps, and the towns of Trieste, Gorizia, and Udine.

It is generally understood that Italy has arrived at an agreement with her allies on the terms which she will sign the peace treaty, which will conclude the war.

On the eastern frontier, signs of a clash to what at one time seemed an overwhelming Austro-German offensive movement are becoming more and more apparent. Even the fighting which was driven into the Russian centre along the River Danube has been confined to give more ground to the counter-attempts of the Russians.

It is said that German troops, with heavy guns, aeroplanes and zeppelins are already passing through the valley of the River Adige in the direction of the Italian front.

Canadians Were In Another Big Battle

Word has been received at the militia department that the second and third brigades of the Canadian division were in another engagement.

The fight between the Canadians and Germans occurred in an orchard country. The Canadians, it is stated, charged at the point of the bayonet, put the Germans to flight and captured several machine guns.

According to advice received they displayed splendid dash and spirit. No mention is made in the report of the number of casualties sustained, but it is probable that they were considerable.

The Canadians in this fight, which occurred near Ypres, were commanded by Brigadier General Mercer and Currie.

Whist Drive and Dance Was Great Success

The W. A. of St. Ambrose church held whist of their popular whist drive and social on Thursday, night in the parish hall. On account of other attractions the attendance was not so large as usual, although at the room was well filled when dancing started. The prizes were won by Miss A. Oakland and Mr. J. Lake.

The social was in the hands of Mrs. W. J. Wheeler and was carried out. The whist was given by Mrs. Wheeler and Mr. O'Leary, who furnished music during the evening.

IS IT NOTHING?

In its issue of last Monday the Medicine Hat Times gives explanation in answer to our editorial of last week under the heading "At It Again." We accept the Times' apology, but it is there is one item in which it tries to belittle our article when it says: "It is really a revelation of how easily a grievance can arise out of nothing." This grievance did not arise out of the incident in question. Is it "nothing" the way Nelson Spencer acted towards Redcliff in regard to her gas rights when he was mayor? Is it "nothing" that Nelson Spencer, the man with the patronage from Ottawa in his vest pocket, can get an order for munitions of war for Medicine Hat where they had not the machinery for turning out those goods, yet he can't get an order for military boots for Redcliff, where they have the factory, the equipment and the men anxious and ready and waiting for the opportunity of doing this work.

It is only a few weeks ago that the Times came out in bold headlines and stated that Nelson Spencer had returned from Ottawa, where he had secured an order for the Redcliff Shoe factory, yet recent developments have shown that those responsible for the ordering of the boots evidently never heard of Nelson Spencer.

It seems very strange that although Alberta is sending more men per capita to the front to fight the battles of the Empire than any other province, these men have to go forth with boots made in eastern provinces, when right in our midst we have one of the best shoe factories in Canada which has not as yet been favored with a government order. Every man that goes out to the firing line from Alberta should be wearing Alberta made boots. Almost every eastern paper one picks up he reads of orders for ten, twenty, and fifty thousand pairs of boots being handed out to eastern shoe factories, yet none are coming this way. Who is to blame? If Nelson Spencer's paper is going to give him the credit for securing orders for shells for Medicine Hat it must also blame him for not securing orders for other places in his patronage area.

What's the use of our politicians and papers talking so much about "business as usual" and "Canada's great opportunity for industrial development" when those in a position to carry out those mottoes to the fullest extent are the ones who most miserably fall down?

THE BRITON AT HIS BEST

The British cabinet changes, involving the displacement of a purely Liberal regime by a coalition government, will not surprise anyone familiar with the genuine John Bull. Lord Fisher, the veteran First Sea Lord, did not approve of the war policy of his more youthful and much more energetic, but less sagacious, associate, Hon. Winston Churchill. Fisher soon made his private sentiments public by resigning. But even before the British people had awakened to the fact of dissension in the ministry, that responsible body, taking the cue from Fisher, had started making itself self over.

Prime Minister Asquith and his friends quickly decided that their circle was not sufficiently representative. The present crisis demanded the use of the very best executive minds available in the realm, whether Liberal, Unionist, or Laborite. They were now that ever before, more than before, they would be loyal subjects, to get wholeheartedly behind those upon whose shoulders the great burden rests, to assist and encourage them in their noble mistakes rather than criticize and condemn them for making mistakes. The individual or the paper who would try to take advantage of the present crisis for self-aggrandizement or political capital is a worse enemy to the Empire than the German who crucified the Canadian soldier, looted off the Cosack's ears, or sunk 'ole Lusitania.

But it shows more than this. It indicates admirably the deep-rootedness of British patriotism—that is, the bigness of the British mind. Nowhere on earth have partisanship and bitter factionalism been more in evidence than in the United Kingdom in recent years. On the surface it seemed like a house divided against itself, with malice and strife stronger everywhere than friendship and love of country. So intense was this surface symptom of unrest, that the Kaiser banked on it to bring speedy triumph when he precipitated war. He was amazed later when his quarrelsome relations dropped their differences—like the fighting husband and better half who turn on an interfering neighbor—and joined hands in a common defence of their country.

The Coalition Cabinet should give Emperor William another severe jolt. If militarism has not robbed his royal mind of all vestige of sense he will realize that the Briton of today is the Briton at his best—the combination of Cromwell courage and zeal and Kitchener discipline and effectiveness that even asphyxiating gas cannot intimidate when a united Empire is one of two things—victory or death.

ENEMIES IN THE CAMP

For using the columns of his paper to criticize the work of Lord Kitchener, Lord Northcliffe is today the most abused and universally hated man in England, and perhaps throughout the whole Empire.

As a means of showing their disapproval of the articles appearing in the Northcliffe papers several influential organizations in London, including the board of trade, took bundles of these papers out on the streets and burned them. Others cancelled their subscriptions and news vendors refused to sell them. The Northcliffe papers most miserably failed in their object as Kitchener is more popular among the people today than he ever was. He is also the same Kitchener among his associates in parliament as is evidenced by the fact that he still holds his cabinet position in the new government.

It is disappointing and disconcerting to find at this time when there are so many evidences of harmony and unanimity throughout the Empire that papers with the influence and standing of the Northcliffe papers should allow personal matters and politics to creep in and prompt them to try to start some friction. The same thing applies to Canada, where party papers and politicians take advantage of every opportunity to make political capital from incidents arising out of the present crisis.

The whole world is at the present time passing through a period unprecedented in history. Its incidents are daily appearing on the horizon which have hitherto been unheard of. Under these circumstances it is only natural to suppose and expect that those in charge of affairs will make some mistakes. To err is human under normal conditions, and the truth is greatly accentuated under these abnormal times. It is our duty, therefore, more now than ever before, if we would be loyal subjects, to get wholeheartedly behind those upon whose shoulders the great burden rests, to assist and encourage them in their noble mistakes rather than criticize and condemn them for making mistakes. The individual or the paper who would try to take advantage of the present crisis for self-aggrandizement or political capital is a worse enemy to the Empire than the German who crucified the Canadian soldier, looted off the Cosack's ears, or sunk 'ole Lusitania.

ITALY IN THE WAR

The entry of Italy into the war at the present will probably be more effective than if she had gone in at the start. Although delaying her final decision for several weeks Italy has been all the while preparing, and the now enters the struggle in much better condition than any of the allies did at the commencement. For ten months Italy has been mobilizing, perfecting her equipment and storing her supplies and ammunition. As a result of this preparation Italy is now in a position to place in the neighborhood of two million well trained and well equipped men in the field. They go in fresh and with the experience of either warring nations to the good. There has been no doubt as to the ultimate result of the war there is no doubt that the entry of Italy at this stage will be a great factor hastening the termination of the conflict. Already she has made great progress on both land and sea, and prospects are most encouraging for her continuing along this line for some time to come.

In his first public appearance since becoming premier of Manitoba, Hon. Crawford Borden suggested the forming of a coalition government at Ottawa, as they did in England. It's too bad Mr. Norris didn't think of this a few weeks ago and suggest a similar move in Manitoba as a way out of that province's difficulty.

The War Has Tied

Up Germans Commerce

The "Naval and Military Record" of April, published the following:

"The magnitude of the task which the nation of the Allied Powers have performed since the outbreak of this war is a measure indicated by the fact that in a year ago the actual tonnage of shipping in the world stood second in the world, and in eight months the German flag has been swept off the seas. This means that the enemy's mercantile marine, which consisted of 2,388 steam and sailing vessels, with a total tonnage of nearly 5,000,000, has been captured, so that, apart from the fact that the enemy's food supply has been intercepted, the income of the holders of shares in many of the shipping companies has been depleted almost to vanishing point. This has already been shown by the reports of some German steamship companies for 1914 and now the report of the Rederei Aktien Gesellschaft of Hamburg permits of comparison in the case of sailing ships. According to 'The Financial Times' the Rederei is the largest concern in Germany engaged in the sailing ship trade, and formerly had a wide connection, mainly in South American ports. The outbreak of hostilities brought the earning power of the company to a complete end, and almost no more were captured—retained by the Allies, while all those on outward voyages are now lying idle in neutral harbors. The group recently damaged from £3,850,000 to £19,000 marks, and the net revenue, after reducing the depreciation allowance from £600,000 to 120,000 marks, comes out at £1,300,000, as compared with 497,000 marks. The dividend is scaled down from 12 to 4 per cent."

A Russian report says in the region of Shavli (Caucasus) our troops occupy on a very wide front the line of the rivers Volska, Vents, Dnyana and Bug. Along the lower Dnyana our front has made great progress toward the west of Buz.

Three Trains Have Collision in England

Fifty persons were killed and nearly 300 injured when three trains collided on the Calaisian railway at Greta, near Carlisle, England. It is expected that many of the injured will die. One of the trains was a troop train, another was a local, and the third was the express from London to Glasgow. Five broke out in the disaster, the other two were crushed in the wreck. The troop train collided first with a local from Carlisle, and before the occupants were able to get clear of the wreckage of this accident, the express from London to Glasgow crashed into them. Locomotives and cars shattered and splintered, were hurled about in confusion. Then fire broke out and spread with great rapidity. Men engaged in rescue work were driven back until the coming of the fire brigades.

Before the fire was put out many travellers missed under the wreckage were burned alive.

Five hundred men of one regiment were on the troop train. When the fire was called after the wreck only 50 officers and men responded. Numbers of others, however, were engaged in caring for their wounded comrades.

Germans Cut Off Cossack Prisoners Ears

The Chicago Tribune prints a cable from its war correspondent, Robert H. McCormack, from Lonsa, Russian border, dated May 21, as follows:

"I interviewed today Ivan Pichonoff, a Cossack, who was taken prisoner by the Germans while in uniform and who later escaped.

"The top of his right ear was cut off and most of the left was gone. There were four long gashes in his right thigh. He swore he was hanged by his hands and later by his feet for not letting him divulge Russian positions."

"A German corporal named Raven, an architect in Berlin, faintly at the expense of the Cossack's suffering."

Russians Bombarded By 4,000 Field Guns

The firing of between two and three million Austrian and German shells on the comparatively short front north of Przemysl, in Galicia, gives some idea of the extreme violence of the operations along the San river front, by means of which the Germans hope to retain themselves firmly on the right bank of the river. In this small area the Germans are said to have crowded 4,000 field guns in the closest formation ever seen in battle, being three times the normal number of guns for such an extent of territory.

U. S. Firm Gets

Big Order From Britain

"British ammunition and ordnance contracts," given to the Bethlehem Steel works by Lord Kitchener, have just been increased by orders for an immense quantity of the new lyddite shells making the total value of the contracts received since the beginning of the war more than $100,000,000. The daily output has been raised to about 85,000 shells a day.

ACTION OF SINGLE SPOONFUL SURPRISES MANY

"Redcliff people who bought the simple mixture of buckhorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-Lika, are surprised at the INSTANT effect of a SINGLE SPOONFUL. This remedy is so complete a bowel cleanser that it is used successfully in appendicitis. Adler-Lika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels and ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour or gassy stomach. ONE MINUTE after you take it you feel rumble and pass out. C. T. Hall, druggist."

Germans Shoot

British Without Trial

People arriving in Holland from Louvain bring the story of another outrage in that town, this time the shooting of British prisoners. Trains full of wounded are constantly passing the town on their way to Germany. On Saturday there were many passengers to captured British soldiers. These were seen at the station, but while the backs of the prisoners turned, all the men in khaki escaped. Six were seen and promptly shot on the station platform.

The Austrian barracks at Rovereto, in the Tyrol, which housed 12,000 Italian inhabitants, was blown up Saturday. The police immediately placed under arrest many Italian citizens while the barracks were being blown up. It was shown that the Italians were in any way responsible for the explosion.

FINANCIAL MAGNATES AS PRIVATES

WHILE to the casual observer the picture reproduced above may seem of but passing moment it is particularly of interest to those who follow closely the financial fortunes of the Dominion. The figure at the right hand side next to the officer who has his back turned to the camera is that of Sir Frederick Williams-Tavlor, General Manager of the Bank of Montreal; next to him in the rank is A. H. Holt, General Manager of the Royal Trust Co., while the third figure in that of A. D. McTear, General Manager of Bankers Limited of the Canadian Pacific. The picture was snap-shot during the recent review of the Montreal forces by H. R. H. the Duke of Cornwall. The picture director shows the smile of surprised recognition lighting up the face of His Royal Highness as he recognizes Sir Frederick in the ranks as a simple private of the House Guard of Montreal.

The Journal de Geneve states that Vassil Radoslavoff, the Bulgarian premier, has announced officially that Bulgaria will not attack Roumania if the latter enters the war.

WHERE WORKMEN ARE INTERESTED

Statistics of Implements Industry—
Where the Factories Are—Many
Canadiana Find Work in Them

In view of the general discussion of the agricultural implement industry, which has gone on all over Canada in the past few years, the following facts, as presented in the course of the budget debate in Ottawa recently, will be of great interest to all Canadians, particularly those who live in the West.

According to the census of 1911 there are in Canada seventy-seven implement factories, with a capital of $48,000,000. The number of employees at factories and head offices, nearly all men, is 8,500 and the amount of salaries and wages paid is $5,500,000. Materials used amount to $10,000,000, and the value of products is $20,700,000. There are fifty-four of these establishments in Ontario, located at forty-three different places and in 45 electoral districts. The capital invested in Ontario alone is $14,000,000. The other establishments are located in the province of Quebec, and at Winnipeg and Brandon in the province of Manitoba. I have a complete list of the places in which there are manufacturing of agricultural implements. I shall not go through it in detail, but for the information of the House—because it was a surprise to me—I propose to mention a few of the names of the places in Canada in which agricultural implements of one kind or another are manufactured. This is the list: Hamilton, Brockville, Toronto, Peterborough, Preston, St. Mary's, Smith's Falls, Tennessee, Land, Terrebonne, Gladwin, Ingersoll, St. George, Woodstock, Brantford, Cornwall, Aurora, Ayr, Bolton, Goderich, Merrickville, Oshawa, Paris, Le Prairie, Montmagny, Thessalon, Brandon, Chatham, Waterloo, New Hamburg, St. Hyacinthe, Winnipeg, Ottawa, Ridgeway, St. André, Warwick, Summerside, P.E.I., Calgary, Herville, Joliette, Halifax, New Glasgow, Waterloo, Walkerville, Sorel, Waterville. So far as the record goes, there are agricultural implement establishments in every province except British Columbia; in these places there is invested $45,000,000 of capital, supporting directly, in operatives and their families, probably 10,000 people—the mainstay industrially of many of the towns that I have mentioned which afford a market for the surrounding country; these are the establishments which the policy of the abolition, root and branch, of duties on agricultural implements, would destroy.

It is commonly supposed that Ontario and Quebec alone have shared in the advantages resulting from the extensive manufacture of implements in Canada. It should not be overlooked, however, that Western and Brandon now number among their industries several good sized successful implements factories, while smaller factories are located in York, Erie and one or two other Western towns. It is perhaps not surprising that the host of employees of the implement factories view with some disquiet the vigorous attacks that have been made on the industry from which they obtain their livelihood. As these attacks seem to be gathering strength in the past few years.

PRODUCTION PER ACRE

Field Crops and Conditions in Argentine Republic

The Argentine Republic farmer can have no quarrel with the Argentine implement manufacturer about the price of his hides and skins, and he practically no manufacturers in the Argentine Republic.

All the implements the Argentine farmer uses are made in the United States or Canada, and the farmer in South America has to pay a tax on them in order to provide a national revenue, but the tax that he pays does not afford incidental protection for the home product.

The fact that there are no domestic manufacturers explains why the Argentine urban population is confined to practically two cities, Buenos Aires and Rosario, the former of which contains more people than Canada's six largest cities.

If Argentina had cultivated the home market she would now have possessed a number of medium sized cities in which there would be some manufacturing development. With the exception of the two cities referred to, the Argentine farmer has no market and exports his products in the shape of raw material to all the countries of the world, instead of having his fellow citizens put it through some of the processes of manufacture as is done in Canada, and the United States. If transportation the Argentine farmer laborers under strict discipline.

THE LAST POST

I order that due honor may be paid soldiers or sailors who may be overthrown by death in Montreal, an organization called "The Last Post," has established a fund which provides these with a military funeral. A plot of ground is reserved in Mount Royal Cemetery, conspicuous by the pile of cannon balls. It is the suggestion of Captain Walsh, Marine Superintendent of the C. P. R., who is an ardent worker for "The Last Post," to establish a permanent home for soldiers and sailors where they may find a corner in which to smoke a pipe and fight their battles over again.

THE "HIGHLAND" BRIGADE

Some of the papers are finding fault with the Irish because they are not joining Kitchener's army in larger numbers, but they have only to read the list of killed and wounded in English and Scots regiments to find an answer to their question. Amongst the various arrivals of wounded at Stobhill Hospital in Glasgow are to be found the following names in "Scottish" regiments:

Come, listen to me, you who seek for our aid,
Till I read you some names from the "Highland" brigade
Who went to the Front all the Germans to kill.

And a batch of whose wounded are now in Stobhill.

I find on the list an O'Malley and Boyle,
A Murphy, a Kelly, a Riley, and Doyle;

A Casey, a Carney, a Rorke, and McCann,
All strapping young "Highlanders" every man.

There are Roomeys and Docherty there by the score.

And Gallaghers, too, you will find in galore;

While Muldoons and O'Connors can do all to boot.

Troth, the Old Boy himself couldn't hate such a squad.

And, indeed, there you will find Piper Riordan from Cork.

The skirl of whose pipes could be heard in New York;

And Meagher who plays the big drum in grand style.

Who, I'll swear never slept in the shins of Arryle.

There is Driscoll, a bandman, and Pipe Major Fog,

With a McNamee, McLaughlin, Maginn and Malloy.

An O'Leary and Doogan, McBride and McGill,

All hoodlums and dandies about in Stobhill.

You can find if you wish a Delaney and Burns.

A Carroll, a Clancy, a Toole, and McGurk,

A Foley, a Walsh, a McGuire, and a Quinn.

All pledged to assemble some day in Berlin.

There was Gannon O'Donnell and Sergeant McFall.

Who can both cut the tartan of old Glasgow.

And James McInnes, whose hair is not dry.

And who says he belongs to the Field of Skye.

It would do your heart good to see Paddy McGee.

The calves of whose legs are as thick as a tree;

And big Darby Doonan, who comes from Slieve Donard.

Has his wee "deech and deuch" when ever he can.

I don't think that British need care for the House.

With such fine "Highland" soldiers to handle her guns;

And I hope you told that John Black and his men

Are smokin' to the Lord not to meet them again.

Lo! The Poor Laborer

It seems almost pitiable that there are men so narrow that they believe the laboring man is not an equal but is an ineffectual human atom who must be protected in kindly manner by the tender care and patronage of big (7) souled prohibitionists. The prohibition people who brought out the Liquor Act admit that they have done so chiefly to protect the labor man who cannot protect himself. To the one who knows the labor men this is an insult. In the labor classes of today there are men of at least as high intelligence and as broad charity as any of those who fathered this Liquor Act.

The temperance people say that with the adoption of this act there will come an unprecedented era of prosperity for the worker. They do not say how. They do not say it will reduce the income of the provincial government by nearly $500,000 and will put 1,200 bartenders on the streets. When asked about these things they admit them, wave their hands and go off on some statement regarding prohibition or the monster, or some other choice mouthful.

The labor men of today want facts. The facts of the weakness and injustices of the Liquor Act are so apparent that one reading will show them all. It is homecoming with unpracticabilities and loopholes for the illegal trafficker. It devotes all of Clause 44 to protection of that choice citizen the "volunteer informant." It practically declares that it will not only stand for sneaks but will even encourage them in underhand methods. Clause 44 is a clause worth reading.

It says that when information is drawn up charging any person with violating the Act it will not be necessary to state more than that the law was broken, not requiring to know quantity or kind of liquor. It states further that it is also not necessary to state the name of the person who bought the liquor, sold it or gave it to the accused. Any man who has a spite against a neighbor can safely get satisfaction by carrying tales to a liquor detective and then let the detective do the surface work. It is a clause that appeals not to working-men or worksters.

The transportation of the Ulster division of Lord Kitchener's new army (now amounting to over 20,000 men) to England will begin this week, according to a private dispatch received in New York from Belfast. The troops will go from a British concentration camp to France very shortly, already a contingent of the force is in the camp, consisting of some light trench and a cycle corps for outpost duty.

Waving caps, shouting whole-souled hurrahs," crying "Viva Italia," "Tricolore and Tricolore" with a mixture of merry airs by a military band, and quoted with a vigorous speech by Consul Rossi in Italian, which he translated for the benefit of the thousands of members of Italy in Calgary, was heard with enthusiasm up to the fiercest village.

Christians at a meeting this week decided to change the name of the town, as the present name sounds too German. The three names suggested for the new name are Alliance, Sheldon and Alderson. These three names have been submitted to the government, the C.P.R. and the post office department, and the change will likely be made in the near future. The name Alliance has the preference of the Christians people.

The Liberal Oil company, which is drilling for oil on the banks of the river here, are making good progress at present. The machinery is all working fine and the men are not now experiencing any difficulty in drilling operations. Already they have struck the first flow of gas.

While fishing on the banks of the river just at the edge of the town, a twelve year old Chinaman from the Alberta cafe, landed a fine big star-gazer. It was a beauty and weighed eight pounds. It was caught with an ordinary hook and the boy had quite a time landing it.

Dr. Mason and family, who have been spending the winter in Vancouver, arrived in town this week and intend residing here in future. Dr. Mason things this is the cheapest place in the west to live, and has decided to remain for the summer. He has taken up his residence in the house previously occupied by Dr. Stoner for the present.

Geo. Suttie, at one time employed in the Broadway Department Store here, but latterly of Calgary, has enlisted in Calgary.

Fine growing weather this. Couldn't be better. The occasional showers and fine sunny days following are bringing the crops and gardens along the magic. Prospects, as we said before, never looked brighter.

Mr. Woodhouse, of the Fernie Ledger staff, was in town this week on his way home from the coast. He dropped in and paid the Review a friendly visit.

We understand that the rolling mill here has secured a lot of lumber for stock to be shipped west in the near future. The filling of this order will keep the staff busy for several weeks.

J. Osborn, of this town, is doing a big business these days writing up bail insurance for the farmers of this district. Farmers who have a big crop in should not neglect attending to this important matter.

A. Symons is coming tomorrow for Craik, Sask., tomorrow. It is his intention to open up a jewelry store at that point, but he will return here next fall.

E. D. McConnell, of Bevel, spent the Fourth day holiday at Maple Creek on business. Mr. McConnell has a farm in that district and informs us that the crops there are in excellent condition.

COMMUNICATION

Redcliff, May 27, 1915.

Dear Sir—Since reading your editorial "About that Elevator," which appeared in a recent issue of the Review, I have been looking into the situation and much as I'd like to be able to make a different report, I fear we will not be able to build and have in operation an elevator for this year's crop.

However, the information I have gathered will likely be of some use to the near future, and if our community succeeds in harvesting a bountiful crop this fall, which now seems assured, we will be able to take hold of the proposition in the proper way.

Most all of us who have had this project in mind, realize it would be quite an undertaking for the people of this community to raise the money to build an elevator, a medium sized elevator of 50,000 bushels capacity, costs, with dump, automatic scales and cleaner, about $8,000, and as we have been planning on getting an advance from the government, as they have in assisting a number of local of the Alberta Farmers' Co-operative Elevator Company, Limited, to build, and are willing to help finance us building one up to 50 per cent. of the cost of same. As the above estimate this community would have to raise at least $1,200, which I am satisfied could easily be done.

However, the worst difficulty we are apparently confronted with is that the bylaws of the Alberta Farmers' Co-operative Elevator Co., Ltd., require that "a number of farmers owning or cultivating at least 6,000 acres of land in any shipping point here for 1916.

There is no doubt but what the farmers tributary to Redcliff need better marketing facilities than they now have, and I am sure all of our merchants will be glad to have more of the farmer's trade.

Factories will make Redcliff a good point in the last day of April of any year, in writing, request the directors to establish (whether by erection, purchase, etc.) an elevator at said shipping point, said elevator shall be established by the Company in time to receive that year's grain, and the Company shall in that and other succeeding years operate said elevator.

I have taken this up direct with the directors of the above company and he advises "it is now too late for us to take this matter up for the year 1915, we cannot see that we can hold out much hope of your being able to get your assistance this year."

In the meantime I am inquiring to see if there is any way in which we can get the proper authorities to give us further consideration.

A meeting is now being arranged for between the interested citizens of Redcliff and the organization of the directors of the above company, and as soon as the date is set, it will be mentioned in the paper, so that all who wish can attend.

If we are absolutely unable to get our elevator this year, we can make a good start this fall, and there should be no question as to having it, town, no doubt, and if we cultivate the friendship of the neighboring farmers, may at some time be our lack going to the Hat on account of our set of proper facilities, we shall have a larger and better Redcliff.

A cordial invitation is extended to those interested to place any information they consider of use in my hands, as I may not assume the duties of Redcliff Board of Trade will do all it can to bring to a successful completion an elevator in Redcliff.

I remain, respectfully,

OTTO M. SHIPLEY,
Acting Secretary, Board of Trade.
